

Bob Davies

Following graduation from the British School of Osteopathy in 2000 and after working as an associate osteopath in a number of osteopathic clinics in London and the south east of the UK, Bob returned to his home city of Swansea in 2003 in order to establish his own practice. The practice has been delivering osteopathic health care to the local community over the past 14 years.

Broadening his career, Bob took up a position on the M.Ost Osteopathy programme at Swansea University in 2012. As a senior lecturer at the university, as well as having responsibilities relating to student mentorship and clinical supervision, Personal and Professional Development module co-ordination, and student admissions, over the past 4 years in particular, Bob's main role has been programme management and the delivery of quality assurance.

In December 2016, Bob was also appointed as an Educational Visitor and Registration Assessor with the Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education (QAA) and GOSc.
