Dear candidate

Thank you for your interest in this appointment and I hope that this information pack is helpful in setting out:

- the duties of the General Osteopathic Council (GOsC)
- the qualities and competencies that are required to be a registrant member of Council.

Since its inception in 1996, the GOsC has performed its role to a consistently high standard. It has been described by the Professional Standards Authority for Health and Social Care as demonstrating 'an impressive commitment to use the learning from across its work to improve its performance across its regulatory functions' and is committed to evidence-based regulation that both protects patients and drives the development and quality improvement of osteopathic practice and patient care.

The regulation of individual healthcare professionals is an essential mechanism for the protection of patients. This is particularly true for osteopaths, who predominantly practise independently in the private sector and are not typically employed in managed environments such as the NHS or large-scale independent healthcare organisations.

If you think you have what it takes to be a member of the GOsC Council in the dynamic environment of healthcare regulation, do please complete the enclosed application forms and return them to us by noon on Wednesday 4 December 2019.

Yours sincerely

Alison J White
Chair of Council

About the General Osteopathic Council

The GOsC's statutory role, set out in the Osteopaths Act 1993 (as amended) is to 'develop and regulate' the profession of osteopathy. The overarching objective in exercising its functions is the protection of the public.

The GOsC has the following statutory objectives:

- a. To protect, promote and maintain the health, safety and well-being of the public
- b. To promote and maintain public confidence in the profession of osteopathy, and
- c. To promote and maintain proper professional standards and conduct for members of that profession.

The GOsC is also a charity registered in England and Wales (1172749) and its charitable purposes are those set out in the Osteopaths Act 1993 (as amended). The GOsC's Council members undertake the role of charity trustees.

Its core functions are:

- Assuring the quality of osteopathic education and training.
- Registering qualified professionals on an annual basis and ensuring their continuing fitness to practise.

Strategic priorities

To fulfil its statutory objectives, the work of the GOsC is guided by its Strategic Plan. This sets out its strategic objectives and how the GOsC plans to implement them. The 2019-24 Strategic Plan can be found here: osteopathy.org.uk/about-us/our-work/strategic-plan

Key principles that underpin the work of the GOsC

The GOsC is committed to conducting all its activities as a regulator and an employer based on a number of key principles:

- Proportionality

We will ensure that the regulatory burden is no greater than it needs to be to deliver our statutory duty, focusing our resources on areas of risk to public protection and where there is scope to achieve the most in terms of improving standards of osteopathic practice.

- Fairness

We will be consistent in the development and application of our policies and procedures in order to ensure fairness, with the aims of promoting equality, valuing diversity and removing any unfair discrimination.

- Accountability

We will publicise our actions and decisions, wherever possible, ensuring that the information is clearly explained and easily accessible. We will explain how we have taken our stakeholders' views into consideration in developing policy and in improving our performance. Council will seek to exemplify high standards of governance.

- Anticipation

We will monitor trends in healthcare, regulation, osteopathic practice and education, in order to respond effectively to change and to support the osteopathic profession to respond accordingly.

- Inclusivity

We will respond to the needs of patients, the public, registrants and other stakeholders, taking their views into account in deciding the most effective way to carry out our regulatory functions and working in partnership with others, where appropriate, to achieve our goals.

- Efficiency

We will foster a culture of innovation and continuous improvement, taking steps to benchmark our performance periodically and setting targets to achieve best practice. We will use our resources efficiently, seeking to achieve further efficiencies without compromising the quality of our work.
