Osteopathic
Council

Review of Qualifications: applicants with EU rights.

Guidelines for Assessors

(these guidelines set out our registration process for applicants with 'European Union rights' )

If you wish to work as an osteopath within the UK you are required to register with the General Osteopathic Council (GOsC). Under the Osteopaths Act 1993 the title 'osteopath' is protected by law and as such it is a criminal offence in the UK for anyone to claim expressly or by implication to be any kind of osteopath unless registered with the GOsC.

What we do:

The GOsC's role is to regulate and develop osteopathic practice in the UK by:

- Setting and promoting high standards of osteopathic practice and conduct.
- Assuring the quality of osteopathic education and training.
- Registering qualified professionals on an annual basis and ensuring their continuing fitness to practise.
- Helping patients with concerns or complaints about osteopaths and dealing with those complaints through fitness to practise procedures.

What are European Union (EU) rights?

Under EU law, if an osteopath is fully qualified to practise in one relevant European state, there is a presumption that, in principle, they should be permitted to practise osteopathy in any other relevant European state. However, if there are substantial differences between the education and training, experience of the osteopath and the requirements for the practice of that profession in the host state (such as the United Kingdom) the applicant may be asked to undertake compensatory measures, including an aptitude test or a period of adaptation.

For this purpose, 'fully qualified', means that the applicant meets all of the requirements in order to practise in their home state. If osteopathy is regulated in their home country, this may simply mean holding a qualification, and in others there may be a compulsory period of supervised training. In member states where osteopathy is not regulated, the applicant will need to prove that they are 'established' in that profession by having practised for at least one out of the last ten years.

In order to claim EU rights, applicants must demonstrate that they are a national of a relevant European state or have 'acquired rights' (for example through marriage to an EU national) and that they are entitled to practise as an osteopath in a relevant European state.

A relevant European state includes Switzerland or any of the member states of the European Economic Area (EEA) see below:

Austria	Hungary	Poland
Belgium	Iceland*	Portugal*
Bulgaria	Ireland	Romania
Cyprus	Italy	Slovakia
Czech Republic	Latvia	Slovenia
Denmark	Liechtenstein*	Spain
Estonia	Lithuania	Sweden
Finland*	Luxembourg	Switzerland*
France*	Malta*	United Kingdom*
Germany	Netherlands
Greece	Norway

On receipt of an application for registration, we will tell applicants if they have EU rights.

Once it has been established the applicant has EU rights, they will be asked to demonstrate that their qualification, work experience and/or lifelong learning is equivalent to United Kingdom (UK) standards.

* means statutorily regulated. If osteopathy is statutorily regulated in another country, the applicant will normally be entitled to register at this point subject to any language checks, health and character checks and payment of a fee.

UK standards

In the UK, all osteopathy courses are mapped to the Osteopathic Practice Standards and the award of a 'recognised qualification' (entitling students to apply for registration with the General Osteopathic Council) is only made to students having met the standards required in the Osteopathic Practice Standards.

A copy of the Osteopathic Practice Standards can be found at: www.osteopathy.org.uk/standards/osteopathic-practice. We undertake a quality assurance process of all institutions offering UK osteopathy qualifications (recognised qualifications).

There are also supplementary pieces of guidance that support delivery of the Osteopathic Practice Standards:

- The *Guidance for Osteopathic Pre-registration Education and Training* (2015) describes the professional aspects of osteopathic pre-registration education and the outcomes that graduates are expected to demonstrate before graduation in order to show that they practise in accordance with the Osteopathic Practice Standards.
- The *Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education Subject Benchmark Statement: Osteopathy* (2015) provides a flexible framework describing the nature and content of osteopathic pre-registration courses by the osteopathic academic community and is designed to encourage innovation and excellence in the delivery of osteopathic education. It builds on standards set by the statutory regulator, the General Osteopathic Council (GOsC).

Applicants who have gained an osteopathic qualification in an institution outside the UK (where the osteopathic education standards is not quality assured by the GOsC) undertake an individual assessment process to demonstrate that they meet our requirements for registration.

The process of registration for internationally qualified applicants with European Union (EU) rights

Stage 1: assessment of qualification and knowledge, skills and competences acquired by the applicant in the course of their professional experience or through lifelong learning:

Assessment of qualification, professional experience and lifelong learning formally validated by a relevant body<sup>1</sup> – applicants are invited to demonstrate that their qualifications and professional experience or lifelong learning sufficiently meet the requirement set out in the Osteopathic Practice Standards by completing the form attached at Appendix 2 of this guidance.

It is in the applicant's interest to provide as much information as possible to the assessors to demonstrate that there is no substantial differences between the applicant's qualification, professional experience and lifelong learning to the standards required of UK qualified registrants. In order to do this, applicants are asked to provide an academic transcript, a certified copy of their academic transcript and a certified translation of their academic transcript (in English), which outlines the results achieved for each module studied, and a course guideline/handbook which outlines the modules studied. Applicants are asked to complete a form at Appendix 1, showing how their qualifications, professional experience (and the scope of their duties) along with information about their continuing professional development (CPD) demonstrates that there is no substantial difference between that and the Osteopathic Practice Standards (the professional experience and CPD or lifelong learning must be verified by a professional organisation or a professional referee)

If, taking into account the principle of proportionality<sup>2</sup>, the documentation still shows substantial differences<sup>3</sup> between the applicant's qualification, professional experience and lifelong learning and that required in the Osteopathic Practice Standards, the applicant will be offered the opportunity to undertake either a period of adaptation or an aptitude test.

The General Osteopathic Council will provide feedback about:

- the level of the qualification assessed
- the verified professional experience and lifelong learning taken into account
- information about the 'substantial differences' found and the options with regard to a period of adaptation and an aptitude test.

<sup>1</sup> See Article 14(5) and(6)(b) of the European Directive 2005/36/EU as amended by European Directive 2013/55/EU

<sup>3</sup> Substantial different matters' are defined in Article 14(4) as 'matters in respect of which knowledge, skills and competences acquired are essential for pursuing the profession and with regard to which the training received by the migrant shows significant differences in terms of content from the training required by the host member states.' In the case of the UK, 'substantial difference' means substantially different to the Osteopathic Practice Standards.

Substantial differences

Please note that assessors will determine substantial differences by referencing your application to the Osteopathic Practice Standards. It is recommended that you clearly show communication, consent and clinical reasoning in your supplementary information as through experience these are the areas that the assessors often find 'substantial difference'.

Some applicants find it helpful to seek advice from a UK osteopathic educational institutions before applying for registration to help their application.

Stage 2: Aptitude Test or Period of Adaptation

If a 'substantial difference' is identified, the applicant is able to choose either an aptitude test or a period of adaptation in order to meet the requirements identified.

1. Aptitude Test

The aptitude test comprises two parts:

- a. Completion of a written questionnaire – the Further evidence of practice questionnaire. (see Further evidence of practice questionnaire: guidelines for assessors)
- b. Assessment of clinical performance – The assessment of clinical performance: guidelines for applicants and assessors

Details of when and where the assessments of clinical performance take place are available on our website at: www.osteopathy.org.uk/training-and-registration/how-to-register-with-the-gosc/qualified-outside-the-uk

Together, parts a. and b. of the aptitude test assess most of the Osteopathic Practice Standards as outlined in the OPS Master Checklist.

Applicants are entitled to apply for registration as soon as there is no substantial difference. Applicants who pass the assessment of clinical performance (ACP) will be able to register immediately on completion of other registration requirements, such as health and character checks and payment of a fee.

2. Period of Adaptation

If 'substantial differences' are identified, the applicant may choose to undertake a period of adaptation under with a UK supervisor. The applicant will receive a letter setting out the areas of the Osteopathic Practice Standards that still need to be demonstrated. The applicant would then seek to undertake bespoke compensatory measures through a period of adaptation by contacting an osteopathic educational institution (OEI).

A period of adaptation is a period of supervised practice and/or academic training which can last up to three years and is intended to make up for significant differences which have been identified in an application. These are in areas where, in the opinion of the assessors, the Osteopathic Practice Standards have not been met.

The Period of Adaptation is completed when an institution is satisfied that the applicant has met the requirements of the Osteopathic Practice Standards. Further information is provided in our Period of Adaptation Guidance

Mapping of academic transcript, experience and training to the *Osteopathic Practice Standards

(To be completed by the applicant)

Instructions for completion

This mapping document should be completed by the applicant by referencing where in the documentation, each standard is evidenced. Ensure that your referencing is as clear as possible, to enable the UK assessor to understand what you are referring to. All references should be to English translations of documents.

This mapping document is designed to help you as the applicant to show to the UK assessor that there is no substantial difference between the Osteopathic Practice Standards and your educational qualification, professional experience and lifelong learning or continuing professional development (CPD).

Please note you should try to demonstrate each standard by referencing examples from one or more of your qualifications, work experience and lifelong learning or CPD. You may only be able to show some standards from your lifelong learning and CPD only. For other standards, you may be able to show relevant activities in both qualifications and also work experience. It does not matter whether evidence comes from education and training or practice. You do not have to show examples from all areas for each standard. Your focus should be on providing the best evidence possible to show the standard.

Please indicate on this page how your qualification and/or experience and/or lifelong learning demonstrates no substantial difference to the Osteopathic Practice Standards. It is in your interests to complete this form at Appendix 2 as accurately as possible by referencing the relevant page and paragraph numbers of the verified qualification, work experience and lifelong learning or CPD to help you to show that there are no substantial differences between your qualification, training and experience and the Osteopathic Practice Standards. This will provide the assessors with all the information that you need to assess the application.
