

Wendy Cooper

Wendy Cooper (nee Holtham) studied osteopathy at the British School of Osteopathy in London and qualified in 1988. She gained experience as an associate in several practices before moving and settling in Yorkshire in 1989. She established her own practice in Guiseley in 1991, which developed to support three associates.

Wendy has taught osteopathic technique and was the senior clinical tutor for the BSc(Hons)/Master of Osteopathy course at Leeds Beckett University.

In 2013 she was appointed by the GOsC to assess clinical performance and provide support for osteopaths returning to practice after time away from the GOsC register.

Professional Memberships

- British Osteopathic Association
- Northern Counties Society of Osteopaths
- British Medical Acupuncture Society
- Leeds hub of the National Council for Osteopathic Research